

2.11.2022

Product cancelation: TO92 (32209210 and 32209220)

Dear valued customer,

Lately we have all been witnessing drastic changes in the industry. High energy costs are challenging establish production methods, supply chains are less dependable compared to previous years, and we see business models disappearing.

Today we must inform you that one of those changes impacted directly our TO92 sensor. Our existing supplier has discontinued production without offering any alternative. While we have checked several alternatives it was not possible for us to source the adequate housing step. Therefore, we have to discontinue these sensors.

We will supply to the confirmed orders but cannot take any new orders for the product.

While we continue to look for further options, we cannot offer you a replacement as of today.

If you have further questions or concerns, please approach your sales contact.

Sincerely,

Axel Bergt
SVP Marketing & Sales

Andreas Schreiber
VP Marketing & Product Management